Sheriff John P. Smith, of Smith county, arrived in the city yesterday morning and let for Tyler on the Cotton Belt at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, having in custody, Rube Creighton, who was arrested and jailed in Waco Wednesday.

Creighton had been employed at the Brazos compress in the Fifth ward for nearly a month and was at work when arrested. Assistant Chief of Police W. C. Clay became possessed of information which resulted in the negro's arrest on the grounds of a suspicious and desperate character. The Smith county authorities say he has several indictments hanging over him, for assault with intent to murder, aggravated assault and battery, and crap shooting.

Got His Confidence and Money, Too.

Yesterday, Wiley McMullen, a young citizen just in from the Willow swamps of Mississippi, was run across by a stranger who claimed to be a railroad man.

Young McMullen was seeking work. The railroad (?) man soon learned this fact, and proceeded to at once win the confidence of the young man, offer him a job and extract a loan from his already depleted pocket book. The game work d, and McMullen shelled out his dollars. This morning the said railroad man secured another loan, and McMullen was out $7, with only a few cents left. A bystander warned the young fellow of his danger, but it was too late. The railroad man had no more job than a rabbit, and McMullen's pocket book was in the soup. He sought the officers for redress, but to no avail, as the man had only borrowed the money. McMullen's wisdom bump has suddenly enlarged and will be a protection to him in the future.
